

Remote & Home Learning @StPiers

Guidance & Support

At St Piers we are committed to enabling students to learn throughout the Covid-19 pandemic. This includes when students may be required to self-isolate or shield. To support the continuity of learning we are providing students and parents/carers with personalised learning and therapy packs alongside access to virtual sessions via Microsoft Teams where meaningful, our St Piers YouTube Channel and Mathletics. All learning activities are tailored to individual students and the goals and targets that they are working towards whilst at St Piers: these goals and targets are related to each student's Learning Outcomes identified in their EHCPs. Remote / home learning is reflective of the student's Learning Journey and aims of the curriculum programme being followed.

Parent/carer support at home during this time to ensure your son/daughter is engaged with the learning set remains invaluable and will contribute towards ensuring that the detrimental effect of long-term absence is lessened than it otherwise might potentially be.

Due to the significant amount of direct teaching and learning time that all some students will miss, and the likely impact on learning in response to positive test results, isolation etc, when necessary, our focus on promoting engagement with remote / home learning continues to be absolutely vital due to the complex and individual needs of our students...your son/daughter.

We understand and appreciate the pressure you and your family may be under at this time so please support your son/daughter when you are able to and let us know if there are any issues with the home learning work set for whatever reason.

Due to the increased amount of time that maybe spent online during these difficult periods, please use the links below regarding online safety:
